

Amy Sullivan
Executive Director – St. Louis Physician Alliance & SLPA ACO

Amy Sullivan is the Executive Director of the St. Louis Physician Alliance & its Accountable Care Organization, SLPA ACO. In her role, Amy is responsible for the strategy and overall management of both organizations. This requires an understanding of ACO participation guidelines and standards, and the ability to interpret, document and communicate pertinent information among multiple internal and external stakeholders. Her role includes leading process, compliance and performance initiatives among multiple ongoing projects and workstreams to support nearly 600 providers and 19,000+ Medicare beneficiaries in the St. Louis area.

Most recently, Amy served as ACO Program Manager for SLPA ACO. She is an experienced project manager in multiple industries, including healthcare, sales and education. She most recently worked as a Senior Project Manager for a Fortune 20 company, leading company-wide projects and initiatives, impacting 30,000+ employees enterprise-wide.

Amy earned her MBA at the Olin Business School of Washington University in St. Louis and graduated Magna Cum Laude and Phi Kappa Phi from the University of Maryland European Campus with a bachelor's degree in business communication. Amy has held a Professional in Human Resources (PHR) credential since 2008 as well as professional memberships with the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) and the Healthcare Businesswomen's Association (HBA). She volunteers as a member of the St. Louis Leadership Committee for The Mission Continues.
